DAMPER ON LAW GRADUATES.

William Berrigan, an officer of the Supreme Court, received a notice from the Comptroller that his services were no longer needed; but, paying no attention to this missive, continued his services for five months longer. Comptroller Green refused to pay him, and he brought suit against the city for salary during this time. The defence was that he had been removed from office, to which a demurrer was interposed, and the case was carried to the General Term, Court of Common Pleas, which Court yesterday sustained the demurrer.

The will of John Harper, the late head of the publishing house of Harper & Brother, was yesterday admitted to probate by Surrogate Butchings. It gives his property to his widow and chil. dren, of whom his sons, John W. Harper and Joseph Anner Harper are members of the firm of Harper & Brother, and are appointed executors of the will. There is no bequest of a public nature. The will itself was not submitted to the representatives of the press, and therefore no estimate can be given of the value of the real and personal estate of the decedent or how the same has been apportioned among the widow and children.

In August, 1872, the snip Maggie L. Carville unloaded 160 tons of iron on pier 46 North River. Under this beavy weight the pier gave way and a good share of the fron was lost. Mr. Francis S. Sinclair, the owner of the tron, brought suit against the city, claiming $5,000 damages. The trial of the case began yesterday before Judge Van Brunt, holding Supreme Court, Circuit. The city put in a counter claim for $10,000 damages injury to the pier. It was claimed that the person having charge of unloading the cargo was told that it was not safe to put such a weight of iron on the pier. The trial will be resumed to-day

The suit of Edward P. Doyle against the Eye and Ear Infirmary and Dr. Richard Derby for $106,000 damages for the destruction of his eyesight by alleged malpractice, and which has been on trial for several days past before Judge Van Brunt and a jury in Supreme Court, Circuit, Part 2, has finally been concluded. Counsel having fin)shed their summing up on Wedne day evening Judge Van Brunt yesterday morning charged the jury, carefully reviewing the evidence, after which they retired. After an absence of ten minutes the jury returned and rendered a verdict for the defendants.

In the case of the Park Theatre Mr. Arnoux for Mr. Pursell made application vesterday to have amount of ban settled for appeal against the decree of the Court for the sale of the Pursell lease to repay the mortgage of Riggs and others and interest due on the same. He considered that security for $22,000 would be deemed sufficient. Mr. Authon, on the other side, contended that in this case specially the ball ought to be full and sufdeient. Mr. Pursell had permitted himself to be ejected for non-payment of rent of a small amount which had gone on since, increasing until it had swelled to a large sum. That the period for redemption was fast expiring, and that it was claimed in order to redeem he should pay the owners of the property $37,000. He had made an assignment of his property and was in circumstances of great embarrassment, and he considered a full and sufficient ball should be given. The Court fixed the ball at $60,000, two securities of $30,000 each,

Ell T. Landon was formerly a clerk of the defunct American Seal Lock Company, which he claims owed him $1,100 for services at the time of ts suspension. He brought suit against Leopold Bamberger for his arrears of salary, claiming that namberger, as stockholder, was liable for the amount. The case was tried yesterday before Judge Curtis, in the Superior Court, and resulted n a verdict for the defendant. The evidence for the defence showed that Bamberger was not a stocknoider, out simply had received some of the stock as security for a loan which was never paid.

N. SHIPMAN, Judge.

NEW YORK AND RICHMOND STEAM-SHIP LINES.

The New York and Virginia Steamship Company was chartered in 1850, the charter to run twenty years. In 1867 the directors of the company sold to the Old Dominion Company, a rival line, run-ning between New York and Richmond, Va., their two steamships, Niagara and Saratoga, for $57,500 cash and 4,000 shares of stock in the latter company. Subsequently they sold to the same company the Yazoo for $50,000. Their remaining steamer, the Creole. was lost, but $50,000 was obtained on her in-Creole. Was lost, but $50,000 was obtained on her insurance. John N. Kranchoff, as the representative of stock in the New York and Virginia Steamship Company, brought suit against Francis Skiddy and three other directors, claiming that this was a fraudulent sale of the company's property that the steamships were worth $500,000; that the stock taken for them was worth but fifty per cent; that Skiddy, through this transaction became a director in the Old Dominion line, and that he and the other directors against whom the suit is brought acquired advantages to which they were not entitled. He asked that the sale be set aside, and that the defendants render an accounting to all the stockholders choosing to come into the suit. The case was tried before Judge Van Vorst, at supreme Court, Special Term, who gave his decision yesterday in a lengthy opinion. He holds that a sale by directors of the property of the company so as to destroy its business is not lawin; but, under the circumstances, the company sengiargely in debt, its creditors pressing and the business a losing one, through competition with two other lines, that their action was justifiable. As the price obtained was a good one, the steamers selling three years later for $100,000, and as they offered the stockholders a proportionate interest in them, which they got on terms, and as the plaintiff so long delayed his action, he decided that they were not in fault, but directed that a formal accounting should be made, and gives minute directions as to the manner of making such accounting. surance. The case is now awaiting a toird trial. Pending this third trial a motion was recently made on behalf of the city for leave to amend the answer. Judge Barrett, in Supreme Court, Chambers, before whom this application was made, gave his decision yesterday, denying the motion on the ground that the same. In his opinion, was not made in good faith. A primary casis of dispute, resulting in tais prolonged higation, was the question as to the validity of the contract, it being claimed that having been given out without senied proposals it was not a valid one. This objection, however, the Court of Appeals decided as not holding good, inasmuch as the work was done pursuant to an act of the begislature, and to be baid for from special appropriations. As there were two acts in regard to the matter and two special appropriations the furning question was raised as to which of these acts the work was done under, and from which appropriation it should be paid for. ing having been tried twice, having been twice

LAW SCHOOL GRADUATES.

The recent graduates of the Columbia College Law School appeared in a body yesterday before the Supreme Court, General Term, to be admitted to practice, under the statute providing for such admis-ion, without the usual examination as to qualifications. Judge Davis stated that he disapproved of this method of manufacturing lawyers. While be thought it was proper to examine these gentiemen in regard to their character at that time, yet he would instruct the committee to adhere with great strictness to the requirements of the statute with reference to the admission of the statute required the were some other requisites than passing at the Law School. The statute required that these gentlemen should exhibit their diplomas and that they should also make affidavit that they were now residents of this indical district. No applicants would be admitted who resided in another district or out of the State. He had observed from the ist of the integraduates as given in the bewspapers that a great many of them were residents of other States and he supposed a number more were residents of other districts, but no person could be admitted to the Bar in this district who was not an actual, bone fide resident of this city. Those who were not actual residents need not further attend. Measurs, Edward Patterson, E. R. Wneeder and G. V. Buldwin, the Committee on Character, then proceeded to examine the applicants. ANOTHER CASE OF MALPRACTICE. While the case against the Eye and Ear Infirmary has been occupying the Supreme Court an action for alleged maipractice by Augustus McCollom has engaged the attention of Judge Gross and a jury in Part 1 of the Marine Court. It appeared from the evidence that McCuhom, without any diploma, was practising as a dentist when Richard M. James the plaintiff, sought his services in order to have as teeth niled. During the operation considerable injury was done to the plaintiff by the alieged unskinfliness of the centist, resulting in lockjaw, which nearly proved attal. Medical cvidence was called on behalf of the plaintiff to show that alveolar abscess was the cause of the lockjaw, and considerable amusement was created by a dental professor being obliged to contest that the term meant no hing more or less than a gumbell, Judge Gross, in summing up, said the question was whether the injuries to plaintiff resulted from the negligence or want of proper skill on the part of the defendant, and declined to enter upon the question of a diploma. The jury, after about ten minutes' absence, returned a verdiet for the plaintiff. Damages $455. Ulman, Remington & Forter for plaintiff; H. A. [From the London Academy, May 1.] Captain Allen Young proposes in his approach ing Arctic trip in the Pandora to steam up Baffin's Bay, through Lancaster Sound, and down Prince Regent's Inlet, after which, should direumstances prove favorable, he will endeavor to make his way along the north coast of America as far as Benring Strait by way of the east coast of King William's Land, the scene of Sir John Franklin's disastrous end. Admirai Colfinson in 1851-2 found but little difficulty in making his way along the Arctic coast of North America, progress inshore being much facilitated by the action of large rivers which discharge themseives into the sea. There is no doubt that, with the aid of steam, navigation under such circumstances would be greatly facilitated and expedited, and we sincerely hope that Captain Young may be caabled to achieve his object. Bay, through Lancaster Sound, and down Prince
